

River Monitor Training

Learn how to become a river monitor or refresh your river monitoring skills

Alpine Watershed Group is looking for new river monitors! This training will cover river monitoring protocols to operate advanced scientific equipment and teach you about important water quality parameters.

Anyone interested in becoming a river monitor is encouraged to attend, and current river monitors are welcome too! Please allow one hour within the 11 a.m. - 1 p.m. time slot to be trained. Attendance is not required for the entire two-hour period.

Training provided by AWG Watershed Coordinator Rachel Kieffer and AmeriCorps Monitoring & Outreach Specialist Sierra Riker.
